Tennis Conqueror of Williams in Turn Meets His Master in Armstrong in Singles Tournament at Longwood

ARMSTRONG PROVES MASTER OF GRIFFIN

Harvard Tennis Star Avenges Williams's Defeat by Californian at Longwood.

KUMAGAE BEATS MILES

Boston, July 28.—Rising from a posiof comparative obscurity so far as ment is concerned J. J. Armstrong of dadejphia to-day established himself a vital force in the game. He de-ted Clarence J. Griffin, the conqueror eated Clarence J. Griffon, the conqueror f Norris Williams, 6,—3, 3,—6, 6,—3, —7, 6,—4. It was no fluke victory, but he triumph of a skilful, resourceful layer against another of the same sould. The difference lay in an offered that would not weaken.

Amstrong was graduated from Har-tard in 1911. In 1913 he and Watson M. Washburn defeated Williams and E. H. Whitney for the intercollegiate doubles championship. Three years ago he lost a four set final in the Western championship to the Californian he de-feated to-day. He won the Northwestern championship two years running.

The fourth and fifth rounds of the singles tournament were productive of fought tennis, two other matche les that of Armstrong and Griffing to five sets. Nat Niles put out Harte, the Harvard baseball and football player, 6—3, 4—6, 3—6, 6—4, 10—8, and was so exhausted that the high panese, I. Kumagae, beat him in five more sets, 6—4, 2—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3.

Johnston Bents Biddle.

Washburn put out E. P. Larned, rether of the former champion, 2-6, -8, 8-6, 6-4. Billy Johnston, the stienal title holder, who now probably play Kumagae or Armstrong in the l on Monday, had a comparatively time with Craig Biddle, at 6-4.

Arinstrong served notice on Griffin Thursday afternoon when the rain stopped the match after they had won the match after they had won it apiece, that he was not to be d. Armstrong promptly annexed third set. Griffin never worked so in his tennis career as he did to the fourth set, 7—5. In the connex set Griffin materially slowed up. nstrong won the first three games last set and had his opponent on his service, but lost that game. 6-15 on his service, but lost that game.
